Special Music August 10th, 2025: Roderick Nevin

Born in Tioga County, Rod received his Bachelor of Music degree at Mansfield University, and a master’s degree in music education at West Chester University.

After moving to Berks County, Rod taught music for 20 years in the Antietam School District. He has enjoyed singing in the Reading Choral Society since 2004, where he has been the Bass Section Leader, Chamber Singers Director, and now the Assistant Director. In addition to singing, Rod is frequently piping on the Scottish Great Highland Bagpipes, and the more docile bellows-blown Scottish Smallpipes. He’s been an active piper with the Hamilton Celtic Pipe Band and now serves as the Pipe Major (director and manager) of the band. In demand locally as a solo piper, Rod has played for many weddings, funerals, and parties. In 2020 Rod joined the lively Celtic music trio Fire In The Glen, where he sings, and plays the pipes as well as Irish whistle.

Rod is currently teaching at the Yocum Institute in West Lawn, in addition to his home music studio in Pennside, with students studying voice, bagpipes and piano.
